BROOKE BESSESEN, author and illustrator of the children's book Look Who Lives in the Desert!, informs West Sedona School eighth-grade students of the unusual permanent clenched feet of a bat. The discussion was part of a full day of interactive programs with the author Tuesday, April 26. Besesen gave presentations that included animal-related material and a look at how a book is created. "I hope I can inspire them. I know they inspire me," Besesen said. She travels to approximately 30 schools per year to share a message of conservation, caring for the environment and following one's passion.
